

2D robot-like winner-reversal task: the clean action is the majority branch, not the label mean

A point robot replans an 8-action correction chunk while traversing a narrowing funnel; training covers recovery states, but action labels are contaminated

Reversible axis: HT commits to the densest branch. It failed when that branch was nuisance; here it wins because the dense branch is the latent clean controller.